SHALL THERE BE A NEW BIBLE?

We have no faith in the opinion expressed quite generally by the press of the country, in commenting upon the three-hundredth anniversary of the translation of the Bible, that in the course of a brief time a new adaptation written as the language has development in speaking, will take the place of the King James version.

That experiment has already been tried, but has met with signal failure. The newer, revised editions have fallen far short of the objects for which they were written, and nowhere have they supplanted the old.

It is not at all necessary that the Bible be victimized by the craze for something new. Those who can appreciate the simple, forceful and exalted diction of the King James version will hope that every future attempt to change or adapt its style to popular speech will be defeated.

One of the most notable periods in the development of English literature was the Elizabethan era, and of that time the King James Bible is one of the most splendid productions. Today this version is the greatest monument of the English language, pure and undefiled. It is perhaps also the greatest classic of the language.

None of us would consider seriously a proposal to rewrite Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," Milton's "Paradise Lost," or the dramas of Shakespeare to make them conform to the changes which have taken place in the language since they were completed. Neither would we think of setting our sacred and patriotic songs to ragtime.

The King James version, we believe, will endure as long as the English language and always remain one of its sturdiest pillars.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S TOUR.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey is about to undertake a tour to the west coast. He has been very active in visiting the various parts of the country, the South and the old West, since he was elected governor of New Jersey last fall. Now he is going to the coast; and whenever he goes he makes speeches, the effect of which, whether that is the design or not, is to cause people to talk about him as a great and successful statesman, and as a probable candidate for president next year. Undoubtedly the program of travel and speech-making tends to the one end of bringing him to the front as the democratic presidential nominee.

Governor Wilson will on this tour speak first at Kansas City at a banquet of the famous Knife and Fork club in that city. His next stop will be in Denver, where he will be from May 7th to May 10th, making speeches before various bodies, one of the functions being a reunion of the Rocky Mountain Princeton club. On May 10th he will leave Denver for Los Angeles, the itinerary calling for his arrival in Los Angeles on May 12th, for a two days' series of speeches, reunions and receptions. No doubt Governor Wilson, in going from Denver to Los Angeles, will pass through Salt Lake City; in fact, he must do so in order to make the time scheduled.

From Los Angeles Governor Wilson will go to San Francisco, thence to Portland and Seattle, returning east by the northern route. It will be a noteworthy "swing around the circle." Everybody will be anxious to hear Governor Wilson, and the citizens of those places where his itinerary allows him to speak will be in luck.

BLIND ART CRITIC.

Kansas City boasts of probably the only blind art critic in the world. He recently put in his appearance in the Western Gallery of Art in that city, secured the services of an attendant to lead him around and immediately proceeded to criticize "by hand" a statue of David with the head of Goliath at the base. The blind man strenuously objected to the part of the whiskers on the head of Goliath and, according to critics with eyesight, his criticism was correct. Several other works of art in the museum also came in for a scoring at the hands of the blind critic and in each instance it was agreed that his opinion was correct. Now the question arises, how soon will it be before a blind man is telling the artists just how they should paint pictures?

And in the course of time all the "innocent bystanders" along the border and their families will be struggling to get on the pension roll.

A STEP IN ADVANCE.

Provided the plan of advertising Tonopah that is at present being discussed is eventually to become a reality, it will be one of the best outward steps that has ever been in this town. It is proposed to issue 100,000 folders of this section; showing Tonopah as the "hub" with the spokes leading to the nearby towns, mines and the agricultural section below Tonopah, which is rapidly being developed. These folders, should they be printed, will be scattered broadcast throughout the entire country. They will, besides showing the diagram of the surrounding territory, contain a detailed account of the many advantages of this section. They will tell of the past and of the future prospects of the district.

This is one of the finest moves that has ever been started in this section. The mine managers are a unit in favoring the project, while it is reported that every business man, thus far interviewed, is strongly in favor of the plan. Provided it is put through it will brand the Tonopah merchant as a new man. It will demonstrate his awakening.

BRITISH VETO LAW.

From all indications the power of the house of lords, the higher house in England, is in a fair way to curtailment. The parliamentary bill, known as the "veto bill," has now passed the committee change without the least alteration. It is now more than likely that the bill will be passed almost unanimously when it comes before the lower house for action. With the adoption of this measure Merrie England will be placing herself in the ranks of the foremost governments of the world. At the present time the house of commons is probably the most representative body of legislatures in the world. But it has been hampered by the power of the pereditary lords, who hold office through the accident of birth. With their power minimized it will be possible for the representatives of the people to accomplish much that is desirable for the country. And it is possible that this move is simply a step towards the abolition of the higher house.

CLEAN THE CITY'S STREETS.

Goldfield is setting an example that it would be worth while for Tonopah to follow. Every householder or tenant is cleaning up his premises and dumping the refuse into the alley. The garbage man is carting away the debris, and within a very short time the town will take on a cleanliness that is greatly to be desired. As a suggestion it might be well to divide Tonopah into districts and clean up one at a time. It would not take very much time for the residents to clean up their premises and the garbage man, provided he had segregated districts in which to work, could shortly dispose of the refuse. It is up to the residents of this town to get busy and "do it now" or else we will be outdistanced by our Goldfield neighbors. The county commissions authorized this work to be done.

WASHOE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY.

"Washoe's 50th anniversary" is the name that has been decided upon in the northern city for the great Fourth of July celebration which is at the present time being arranged. A mammoth parade and Mardi Gras festival will be included in the day's events. Not to mention the fact that an aviation meet will also be held. Reno can do things when she makes up her mind to, as an example might be pointed out the divorce law enacted by the last session of the legislature. Should she show the same amount of persistency in her anniversary event as she did in securing the "easy divorce legislation" the celebration will surely prove a winner.

ACTRESS AND KISSING.

From New York comes the information that an actress has submitted to a judge the question of whether or not it is proper that she should be compelled to rehearse in kissing, under penalty of being discharged. The young actress—she is but sixteen—states that she is perfectly willing to kiss during regular performances but objects to the rehearsal business. Of course the judge will undoubtedly be able to give a learned decision in the matter, but the question rises, since when did an actress need to rehearse in kissing?

The retirement of Lloyd C. Griscom as chairman of the republican county committee in New York paves the way for a restoration of harmony in the republican party there. Griscom was an ardent supporter of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in the fight for the temporary chairmanship of the last state convention and antagonized many important republican leaders. If a new chairman is chosen who has not been identified with factional issues, the New York republicans will be able again to present a united front.

Canton has always been a hotbed of revolt, so it is not strange to hear of a revolutionary outbreak in that city of Southern China, which may reach alarming proportions. The weakness of China in dealing with such a revolt is the weakness of Mexico in suppressing the present insurrection. Discontent is too widespread and the government of the province can not spare enough troops to snuff out the revolt at the start.

The big Parmalee Transfer company in Chicago, which handles all the train and hotel business in that city, has decided to substitute autos for its cabs and carriages, although its bus service will be retained. This radical change shows the popularity of the automobile and its enormous advantages when speed is required.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—With the election of officers the Sons of the American Revolution brought their national congress here to a close yesterday. The matter of selecting a meeting place for next year was left to the board of trustees. Although it was reported that the resolution calling for the erection at Washington, D.
